

What it costs

Families get told "it depends." Here are the real levels and ranges.

Personal care

Classic Joy $5,000

ADLs with one-person assist or stand-by · two showers a week.

Joyful Day $5,400

Plus: escorts to meals and activities · daily linen and laundry for incontinence · closer watch on falls and behaviors.

Joy Enhanced $5,900

Plus: two-person assist · feeding assistance · daily bathing if incontinent · repositioning day and night.

Respite / short stay

$250 per day, two-week minimum. Full care, no long-term commitment — often the cleanest answer to a discharge the family isn't ready to decide.

Memory care

Joyful Moments $6,000

ADLs · watchful oversight · redirection and cueing · dining with encouragement.

Joyful Pathways $6,400

Plus: feeding assistance · modified diets (puree, mechanical soft, thickened) · two-person assists.

Joy Haven $6,900

Plus: advanced behavioral support (combativeness, sundowning, exit-seeking) · consistent two-person care.

One-time fees

Community fee $2,000. A $500 deposit holds the room and applies toward it — the whole list of one-time charges.

The level is assessed, not sold.

Every level includes the room, three meals cooked here, medications given on time, weekly housekeeping, laundry and linens, daily bed making, activities, and staff awake and on-site 24 hours. Mellissa sets the level at assessment and quotes one monthly number; where a resident lands within a level's range depends on room size. If a resident's needs change, we tell the family before the rate does. Payment: private pay and long-term care insurance ·

Want the exact number for your patient?

Describe them to Mellissa. She'll name the level and the rate after the assessment, usually the same day, and tell you if we're not the right setting.
